THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L. Jr.

The idea of a city manager for Nevada City keeps popping up in talks with merchants and other citizens interested in the town's welfare. The thought that a city manager might make possible a more efficient city government is never advanced to criticizing the city council past or present. Members of that body have already distinguished themselves from the average citizenry by their willingness to donate their own time and energy to the business of the city without pay.

The basic thought behind the idea of having a city manager is this: The city is a big business; to run a big business, a well paid, full time executive is necessary. Therefore, the city should have such an executive..

By well paid, it isn't meant that we should figure on 10 or 15 thousand a year, but well paid by standards appropriate to our town. A fgiure of about $300 per month ought to hire a manager who could manage the city business with maximum efficiency..

The elimination of any of the present city jobs, or the usurping of any of the present powers of the city council is not necessary or desirable. A good city manager, by efficient organization, should be able to save, in the efficient spending of money, enough or nearly enough to pay his own salary. Such an executive would, of course, be hired by and responsible to, the city council.

It is difficult to conceive of a private concern whose expenditures ran into tens of thousands of dollars per year, being run without the full time attention of an executive whose sole duty was to manage it. The present system is simply not business like. personalities do not enter into the problem. In my opinion the present personnel of the City of Nevada are eminently suited to the jobs for which they are hired and paid. But I think the system is antiquated.

We have a splendid. city council, probably as progressive and forward looking as we have ever had in the past and will have again. They are all successful business men. Their businesses require most of their time and all of them devote more time to civic affairs than the city has a right to ask in view of the fact that they serve without pay.

Furthermore, I think we could get a good man for $300 per month. and I don't think we'd have to go out side of the city to do it.

If we can stir up some "thinking" and "talking" interest in the affairs of the city, maybe some "DOING" will result. We have a first rate city council, but we need two other things to have a first rate city government. We need to have an active and interested public behind them and we need a full time executive to carry out their policies.

After nearly 100 years of existence, it's high time Nevada City got itself put on the map once and for all and became known as one of the most enlightened, progressive and up-to-date communities in the state as well as just one swell place to live, which it already is.

NLRB POSTPONES MINE HEARING TILL AUGUST 20

The National Labor. Relations Board hearing scheduled to be held here August 15, has been postponed until Tuesday, August 20, and will meet at the Veteran's Memorial Building. The hearing was ordered to obtain a record upon which to base a decision on the request of the Mother Lode Mine, Mill Workers Union No. 839, CIO, to conduct an election among workers at the Idaho-Maryland mine to determine the collective bargaining agent.

BIG MOUNTAIN LION BITES DUST AT BLUE TENT

A big 160 pound mountain lion was slain at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday by Ray Arbogast in the Blue Tent area, 6 miles from Nevada City. Arbogast was assisted in the hunt by Gene Barbieri of Nevada City and Charles W. Ledshaw state lion hunter, of Alta Hill. The lion measured over 7 feet long from the tip of its nose to the end of it's tail.

The animal, a full grown male, was tracked for an estimated 15 miles by the three hunters and five dogs belonging to Ledshaw. After following the trail from 5 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. the dogs finally treed the lion and Arbogast shot it between the eyes with a 32-20 rifle.

A short time previous to its demise, the cougar had slaughtered a large doe. Arbogast had discovered tracks of the lion's big paws the previous day. It was shot in the neighborhood of Marsh's old mill. Residents of Blue Tent report having heard the animal howling several nights previously. .

FOR SHORT TIME FIRE MENACES LAKE VERA AREA

Fire broke out on the Camp Celio Road in Selby Flat Monday aternoon and for a time menaced the Camp Fire Girls summer quarters around Lake Vera.

The State Division of Forestry crews, however, with pumper trucks aided by local residents succeeded in curbing the flames before they had burned over ten acres of low brush. A light wind for a time made difficult the work of fire fighters.

TheS tate Division of Forestry headquarters reported that two fire crews equipped with trucks were aiding in battle with a big forest fire at Rackerby, 20 miles west of Camptonville, on the Yuba and Butte Counties boundary. The State Division of Forestry headquarters in Marysville is directing the efforts of fire crews in that area. The fire started Saturday and is believed to have burned over a large area.

SUPER SONIC PLANE SPEEDS NEXT YEAR

McCLELLAN FIELD, Aug. 15—The XS-I the Army Air Forces super sonic research rocket propelled aircraft, will make its first powered flight at Muroc Field, in the near future, it was announced today.

Designed and built under the joint supervision of Air Materiel Command engineers and the Bell Aircraft Corporation, in coordination with the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, the XS-I is expected to fly at a speed near 1500 miles per hour at an altitude of 80,000 feet. Flights at super sonic speeds are not expected to be made until late next year.

Following successful completion of flights the XS-I will be turned over to the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics officials for further testing and research. With this organization will rest the responsibility for effecting the break through of the barrier of speed faster than sound. This they will attempt to accomplish by a seies of trial flights starting at speed levels somewhat under the speed of sound and nicreasing in gradual boosts until NACC officials believe it has reached its maximum.

The XSI is not a military aircraft. It is strictly a flying test laboratory. Experts have designed and installed in it numerous instruments to record valuable data needed to further their study of super sonic speed and its attendant complexities. This data will be used to influence the design of future aircraft of this type.

Chamber Urges Action Now on Indian Flat Rd.

Roads and highways were the prime topic of discussion at the regular Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday night at 8 p. m. Si Sofge reported that he and Ray Kroneweyer, Secretary Manager of the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce had interviewed C. H. Whitmore regarding the unfinished section of the road between Nevada City and Indian Flat.

Whitmore stated that no money was at present allocated to finish the road and that the state highway commission had no immediate plans for finishing it. State engineers estimated $80,000 would be required to surface the road, which has already been graded and is practically ready for surfacing.

William Davis of Indian Flat, who is a leading objector to the present state of the road, said that there were approximately 30 turns, many of them dangerous between this city and Indian Flat. He proposed that the Chamber of Commerce appoint a committee to wait on the governor and seek his personal intervention in the matter.

Bert Foreman read to the chamber a letter which he proposed to send, over his signature as president of the Chamber of Commerce, to interested executives of the highway commission in Sacramento. He emphasized the investment which the state already had in the present unsurfaced and uncompleted road, which is deteriorating rapidly from the erosion of weather because of lack of surface.

His letter also described the heavy use of the road by the lumbering industry and suggested that a more efficient road would encourage a greater production of lumber from the area served by that highway.

It was suggested that a committee be appointed to get business and civic organizations to further Nevada City's plea for completion of the new road to Indian Flat.

City Councilman Charles Veale stated he was in favor of having a committee go to Sacramento to plead the case personally with highway officials and the governor. He stated that the danger to school children who travel the narrow and crooked road every day should be considered the prime consideration.

Reverend Angus Miller suggested that President Foreman's letter should have to be endorsed before being sent, by all organizations concerned, such as the Board of Education, teacher's organizations, etc.

George Calanan stated that the people of North San Juan were seeking to secure an adequate water supply from the water in Bloody Run.

Calnan stated that, since the San Juan Ridge was part of the back country which contributed to the prosperity of Nevada City, it was to the advantage of the city to aid them in their project of securing water. He suggested that a committee be appointed to work with San Juan, to investigate whether or not funds from the state "Christmas tree" money might not be available.

Calanan, Fred Bush and J. F. Siegfried were appointed as a committee to offer aid to North San Juan.

Charles Veale, George Calanan and William Davis were appointed as a committee to go to Sacramento, should President Foreman's letter get no action on the Indian Flat road.

Disposal of money in the chambers Fourth of July fund amounting to $620.54 including $200 from the previous year, was discussed and it was decided to put off a decision until a later date..

Upon request of Commander Fred C. Garrison of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, a Veterans Service Committee was appointed to assist veterans organizations in bringing home of war dead and other problems. N. Taylor was appointed chairman, with Rev. Angus Miller and J. Paul Bergemann.

SPORTSMEN PAY $150 EACH FOR SLAUGHTERED DOE

Gerald Ducotey, Francis Harris and John Wearne, three Grass Valley sportsmen arrested by Grass Warden Earl Hiscox late Monday night after he had found a slaughtered doe in their car, yesterday pleaded guilty to possession of venison, and were fined $150 each, which they paid.. The alternative was 75 days in jail.

Hiscox stated that when he made the arrest the doe was still freshly bleeding from bullet wounds though there was no gun in the car. He did find a meat saw, such as butchers use and hunting knives. He said the doe apparently had dropped a fawn recently for her udder was full of milk..

BOND ISSUE FOR VETERANS WON'T ADD TO TAX

"California will be unable to fulfill its promise of low cost financing of homes and farms for returning veterans unless Proposition No. 1 carries at the November elections."

So declared Marvin Russell, executive of the State Department of Veterans' Welfare, today in giving strong backing to the campaign of the Veterans' Home and Farm Committee of which Edward W. Bolt is chairman.

Proposition No. 1 involves a $100,000,000 state bond issue to continue this long term financing program for veterans. It will not incur any cost to taxpayers said Russell, as all previous loans, as administered by his department are in a healthy condition. Previous smaller similar issues have carried by an overwhelming majority.

"However," Russell contnued, "funds vailable from the last issue are rapidly being used up and will be entirely depleted by November at the present rate of $3,000,000 a month loans. And thousands more veterans are seeking to obtain farms and homes under this program. That's why a yes vote on Proposition No. 1 is so important if California is to live up to its promise to the soldiers and sailors now returning to civilian life."

All veterans organizations and both the Republican and Democratic state goups have indorsed No. 1 and more than 4000 American Legion members are taking active part in their respective districts to insure the slogan of "Farms and Homes for Veterans—Vote Yes on Proposition No. 1" will be fulfilled Novembed 5.

MODERN DEVICES REVOLUTIONIZE FARM PRACTICE

By Ralph H. Taylor

The term "agricultural revolution" is used by a Life Magazine writer in the text for a seven page layout of pictures showing new farm machinery in action. Much of the equipment is familiar to farmers, but has been improved by invention and adaption. Some of it, however, is new to the agricultural world at large.

There is, for instance, a combination harvester and flame thrower for the sugar beet industry. A direct outgrowth of military engineering, it applies the principle of killing Japanese in caves and "pillboxes" to the business of destroying weeds between the rows of beets. Adjustable jets of flame leave the plant rows untouched while killing off all weeds between them. This remarkable device also digs up the beets.

There is a one man combine, adaptable to the harvesting of a hundred different seed and grain crops almost anywhere in America.

Most important in the view of Life's writer, is a cotton picking machine, costing around $5000 with which one man can do as much in a day as 50 people could de heretofore.

In estimating the effect of the mechanical "agricultural revolution on the American economy, Life's writer comes to several interesting conclusions:

1 He believes the cotton picker will greatly alter the economy of the South; That its economy and efficiency will enable U. S. cotton growers to compete profitably with producers of cheap labor countries, but also that it will "force thousands of cotton laborers to readjust their lives."

2 That complete mechanizing of western beet fields "may interrupt the orderly flow of migrant farm labor which is still needed to harvest other crops of the westt"

3 That "since most machines are likely to be too expensive for small farms, it appears inevitable that one result of farm mechanization will be fewer and bigger farms in the U. S."

There is logic in Life's article, and a deal of probable fact—yet it fails to consider an element of greater force than the most impressive mechanical marvel. This is the human element.

Take this idea that the day of the small farmer is drawing to a close—that the mechanical monster of "agricultural revolution" is in process of gobbling him up. The industrial revolution began long generations ago, with the invention of the steam engine. With each new labor-saving machine—whether designed for agriculture or for urban manufacture—the cry has gone up that it would cause poverty and misery by throwing people permanently out of work. Yet the entire labor force of America today when the machine age has come to full flower, has jobs aplenty—more jobs than can be filled. Anl the small farmer is still here, despite the mechanization that makes "assembly line" farm production possible—just as the small merchant is still here in the great cities, despite the "assembly line" merchandizing of the huge department stores.

In agriculture, as every farmer knows, there is a limit to the size of the farm that can produce at peak efficiency and economy. Increase in size must be accompanied by increased decentralization in control. Authority and responsibility must be delegated and subdelegated until the personal element of old fashioned "family unit" farming is thinned to extinction. The sense of personal interest in the enterprise—the mutual pride of accomplishment and pleasure of cooperation toward a common goal—is largely lost.

Because of these factors there comes a point in huge unit farming where the law of diminishing returns sets in. Just as a farm may be too small for a family to live by it, it may also be too large for a corporation to profit reasonably by it.

Ignorance of this human element in agriculture (and it applies to many another type of business) ran like a thread of falsity through Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath" which has the public ear a few years back. He foresaw "soullness" Wall Street financiers driving farm families from their land and converting the entire arable surface of the United States into an agricultural machine, operated by push button from city offices

He painted a pitiable enough picture—but it was as false as George Washington's teeth. There'll always be family farming in America, no matter what marvels of agricultural equipment the machine age produces.

WATERFOWL SEASON AND LIMITS REDUCED

According to word received by the Associated Sportsmen of California, the 1946 waterfowl hunting season will be the shortest since 1938, in both the number of shooting days and bag and possession limits.

The season will be 45 days in length with a bag limit of seven ducks per day and 14 in possession. Last season was 80 days long with bag limits of 10 per day 20 in possession.

Bag limits on geese have been reduced to two per day plus two snow or blue geese, singly or in the aggregate with two days bag in possession.

California has been placed in the intermediate zone with the exception of San Bernardino, Riverside and Imperial counties which were placed in the southern zone. The intermediate zone opens to hunting on October 26, closing December 9. The southern zone opens November 23, closing Jan. 6.

Shooting hours are one half hour before sunrise to one half hour bebeore sunset

Taking of migratory waterfowl by means of feed baiting or use of live decoys is prohibited.

Possession of migratory game birds including doves and bandtailed pigeons may be retained for 90 days after the season closes

Dove season extends from Sept. 1 to Oct .30 a 60 day season, Bag and possession limits are the same, 10 birds. Shooting hours will be one half hour before sunrise to sunset, except on opening day. The California Fish and Game Commission rules no doves may be shot before noon on opening day, reverting to the federal regulations thereafter.

Bandtailed pigeon season opens Sept 1 closing Sept. 30 with bag and possession limits set at 10 birds. Shooting hours are the same as for waterfowl. .

The pigeon season may cause a violent reaction among California hunters who generally hunt these wildflying birds in December.

FLOWERS IN A CITY HALL

Next week San Francisco will offer something unique to visitors and home folks alike—a municipally sponsored flower show held in a city hall.

On August 21-22, the San Francisco Flower Show, Inc., a non-profit organization, will pack the huge rotunda of the city hall with choice blooms to emonstrate to the city and its neighbors the horticultural wealth and beauty which has made San Francisco famous.

The flower show will be a truly municipal event, for the board of supervisors has appropriated nearly $10,000 to make it a success. It should be a colorful affair.—Contributed.

FIRST CALIFORNIA NEWSPAPER FOUNDED 100 YEARS AGO

It was on August 15, 1846, that the first issue of the Monterey Californian destined to be California's first newspaper, was run off on an ancient press. Today that single newspaper has grown to approximately 577 daily and weekly newspapers throughout the state.

As we read the histories of some of the oldest California newspapers in existence today—those which unlike the Monterey Californian, did not fade from the earth after a short period of publication, we read of their struggles to survive earthquakes, fires and political corruption and still today be among the few nearing the century wark in years of continued publicatoin..

STORY OF FOUNDING

The story of the founding of the Monterey Californian is interesting.

The American flag had been raised in Monterey by Commodore Sloat on July 7, 1846, and after the proclamation had been read, it became Commodore Sloat's responsibility to appoint a mayor. He looked over the Americans who were present and selected Walter Colton, chaplain of the USS Congress which had brought the Americans to Monterey a short time before.

Colton decided the best way to make public the various proclamations, laws and orders, as well as the news of the day was via a newspaper.

He made a partner of Dr. Robert Semple, who in addition to being a doctor, lawyer, and dentist was an accomplished typesetter, editor and pressman. They uncovered a broken down press brought to Californa 12 years before by Thomas Shaw a Boston merchant and odds and ends of type faces.

The first issue of four pages, 11 3-4 by 10 1-4 inches had two column pages and was printed o ncigarette paper. Its home was the second floor of the Customs House.

CONTENTS OF PAPER

The rest of the front page was devoted to Commodore Sloat's proclamation read a month before, and the second page contained Spanish translations of the more important items carried in the newspaper. The rest of the first edition contained "late news" in the form of clipping from a New York Herald three months old, and several local items. There was one advertisement by an enterprising American lad who offered his service as an interpreter.

Subscription rates announced in the first issue were $5 a year or 12 1-2 cents a copy.

The Californian continued under joint ownership of Colton and Semple until April 17, 1847, which is the last issue that bears their names together as publishers. After that Dr. Semple remained alone as publisher. IIn May 1847, he moved the Californian to San Francisco. It continued as a weekly until December, 1848 when it was absorbed by the California Star. Colton returned to the east and apparently dismissed all thoughts of California and the newspaper business which he helped start.—Contributed..

Nevada County Vehicle Tax Share $17.070

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 15 — State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel today apportioned $16,081,771 of gasoline tax revenue for the quarter ended June 30.

Nevada County with 6152 registered vehicles is apportioned $17,070.60.

One third of the total apportionment was distributed to the 58 counties of the state and the remaining $10,721,181 was deposited in the state highway fund. From this amount, the Division of Highways will allocate $2,680,295 to be expended for street and highway construction and maintenance within the cities of California. The balance remaining in the highway fund will be used for construction and improvement of the state highway system.

This apportionment said Kuchel, represents an increase of 47.93% over the amount apportioned for the corresponding quarter last year. .

The current apportionment of $16, 081,771 is an all time high, the largest previous apportionment having been $15,460,786 for the quarter ended September 1941. The smallest apportionment made during the last five years was the amount of $9,449,535 covering the quarter ended June 1943.

From the total of $18,240,017.89 refunds amounting to $2,066,120 were made to purchasers of gasoline not used on public highways..

The administrative expenses of the fuel tax division of the State Board of Equalization and of the controller's division which audits the refund claims amounted to one half of one per cent and were deducted from the net gasoline tax receipts leaving the balance of $16,081,771 which was apportioned by Kuchel.

BIG BOYCOTT GETS UNDER WAY . . . Hot as the weather is, Lorraine Anderson, 2, and Richard Kratzenberg, 1½, turn indignant cold shoulders to the rise from five to seven cents in the price of ice cream cones. Being young peopie of action, they join the pickets around their store in the Glen Hazel housing project, Pittsburgh.

The use (diesel) fuel tax revenue collected during the same quarter totaled $487,866 for an increase of 9.74% over collections for the corresponding quarter last year. This revenue was transferred to the state highway fund to be expended for repair of bridges on state highways.

ARMY SEEKS TO ENROLL VETERAN OFFICERS

World War II army officers of all branches have been invited by Roy A. Green, commander of the 18th Infantry Regiment to contact Maj. John Hawk at the Yuba City armory to discuss accepting a commission in the re-formed regiment as a component of the California National Guard.

Conversion of the famous regiment from its present inactive status into an active, federally recognized National Guard unit, will be discussed and applications taken for commissions in the regiment.

Infantry officers with World War II combat experience are especially in demand for the organization.

Green, who commanded the regiment on Leyte and Okinawa has been appointed commander of the unit as a component of the 52nd Infantry Division, the northern of two divisions which will make up the ground force segment of the California National Guard.

Initial officer appointments will be limited to those wartime officers who served honorably six months subsequent to Dec. 7, 1941 and who have clearly demonstrated their qualifications by actual performance in the grade or positions contemplated.

Those who have qualified for such appointment through the satisfactory discharge of duties of corresponding and equal responsibility are also eligible. Second lieutenants may be procured also from among recent graduates of the ROTC or officer candidate school.

The 18th Infantry Regiment participated in the Kiska, Kwajalein, Leyte and Okinawa campaigns in World War II as a component of the 7th Infantry Division. Brig. Gen. Curtis D. O'Sullivan the adjutant general for the State of California, commanded the regiment before Green.

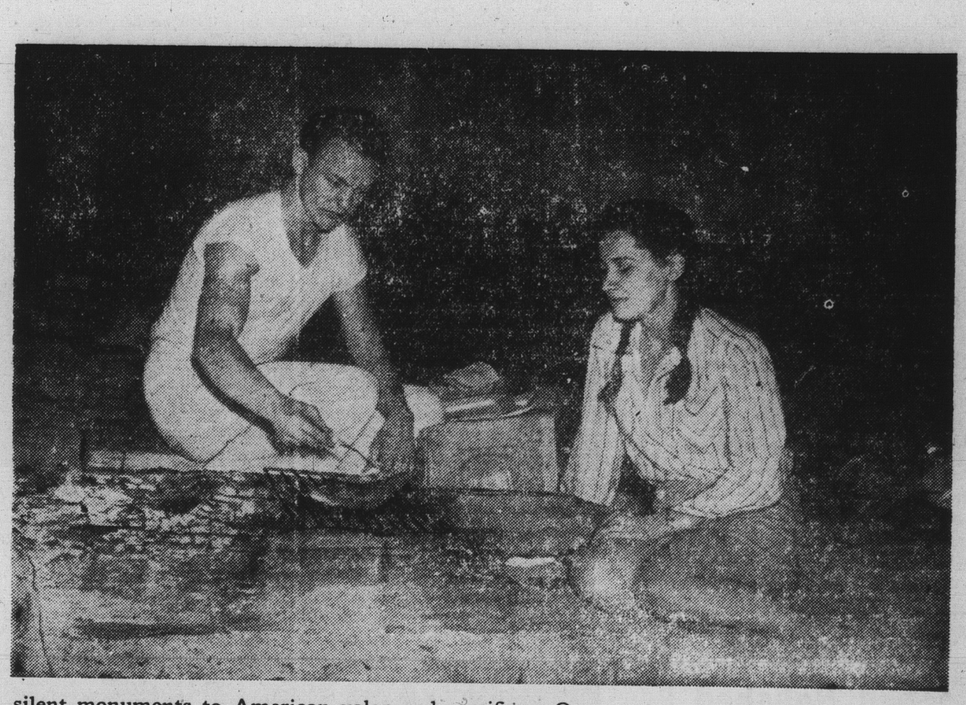
V-J DAY 1 . . . V-J DAY 2—PEACE IN OUR DAY

On August 14, 1946, the world will look back on a year of freedom from global war. It has been a critical and dramatic year, in many senses more critical and dramatic than the horrendous years that preceded it. The United States, together with other nations, has spent the past twelve months struggling to set its feet back on the highway to peace and security. It cannot engage in this struggle without the deeply-etched reminiscences of the dark and bloody times that were encompassed by Pearl Harbor and Okinawa.



THERE WAS MORTAR FIRE on the black beaches of Iwo Jima, and death, for the Marine (left), his face plunged deep into the volcanic sand. This August, 1945, Iwo and many of its grim sister islands of the Pacific are silent monuments to American valor and sacrifice. On the white beaches of the United States the sailor, soldier, or veteran can peer into the glow of his outdoor hearth (right), remembering, but alive and at home again.

You are still at war one year after V-J Day. That's putting it bluntly, but I know from experience that you like straight-from-the-shoulder talk. Inflation at home has yet to surrender. United States Savings Bonds are still "War Bonds" in the battle for America's economic stability. You can combat rising prices by taking surplus dollars out of the market place. Your government has provided a safe, profitable vehicle for saving these extra dollars—United States Savings Bonds. By investing in Savings Bonds regularly you are building a better America and a better life for you personally. U. S. Treasury Department

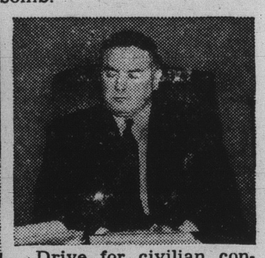
Pictures Show Highlights of Atomic Year One

The atomic age opened July 16, 1945, with the New Mexico test of the bomb (1). A few hundred picked observers saw it. A year ago, at Hiroshima (2), the first war bomb left 160,000 dead and injured. At Nagasaki (3) a few days later casualties were 80,000. Only other atomic explosions have been in two Bikini tests (photo 4 shows first one), scored by atomic scientists as long on showmanship, short on science. Along with others, scientists are observing Hiroshima anniversary with pleas for controls to end all use of bomb.

The most lethal way to deliver an A-bomb is by rocket. Army trials of German V-2 type (above) brought assurances by the end of Atomic Year 1 that the day of long range atomic rockets is almost here. Scientists know of no defense.

All through the year scientists emerged from their laboratories to speak up on political aspects of atomic energy. Photo (from August March of Time) shows Albert Einstein with Harold Urey (left) and Leo Szilard, all active in fight to control the bomb.



Drive for civilian control of atom in U. S. was led by Sen. Brien McMahon (D., Conn.).

After directing Los Alamos bomb laboratory, Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer helped draft State Dep't. proposals.

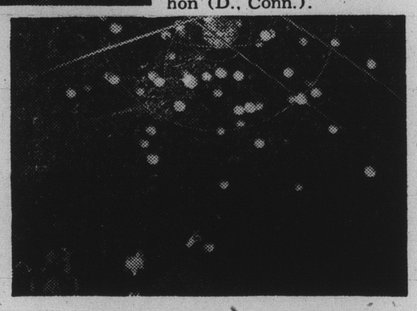
The great American public spent Atomic Year 1 coping with new words, new fears and new hopes. Scientists predicted blessings from the atom, but not if war strikes. Photo shows exhibit at New York Museum of Science



Grass Valley Council To Consider Parking Meters

Acting on the recommendation of the city planning commission favoring parking meters, the Grass Valley City Council meet next week, probably Tuesday night, in special session to consider a proposal made by the Dual Parking Meter Company.

A contract submitted by the company proposing a six months trial of parking meters will be studied.

The council suggested that the planning commission hand in a recommendation concerning a projected incorporation of a large section on the southeast limits of the city into the city. The council announced that the business streets of the city should be given a thorough cleaning Tuesday and Saturday hereater.

Noah's Ark cruised around forty days and nights before it came to a stop—just about the length of time it takes the average driver nowadays to find a parking place.

Decisions

Men and nations gain or lose by the quality of decisions they make. Founders of this remarkable republic made a wise decision long ago, in favor of personal self-reliance and individual government. America is great today because so many smart people were left free to do as much as they could, as well as they knew how, and gain as much of a reward for themselves as they were able.

Not all Americans are models of progress and success but they all have benefited more or less from the achievements of those who did have the immortal spark. You can't pick successful men before they try, but more men of outstanding talent are sure to come to light where everyone is allowed to do his best. A large number of thinkers at work always adds up to more for everybody.

Not Luck at All

People may orate about America's greatness coming from her vast natural resources. The resources exist all right but the redskins had them before Columbus came and didn't know the use of a wheel. Some people boast of this nation's blue-blood heritage. It was good. Our forebears, in large part, came from Europe. That was probably the smartest thing most of them ever did.

America's economic system is what made America great. It is a system of liberty giving every man the right to pick what he wants and go after it hammer-and-tongs, get it if he can and enjoy it to the extent of his capacity, so long as it does not trespass the rights of somebody else. It is a sprightly and dynamic economy, quickly adjustable to changing times and conditions.

What Developed?

Limitless opportunity and keen competition have borne a rich harvest. Our farmers live better than the peerage of some foreign lands. Our laborers have more than workers elsewhere ever have had at any time. America has 7% of the world's population and 80% of the world's automobiles. We send more children to high school and college than all the rest of the world combined.

During the last two years of World War II, from a startled start in December, 1941, America made more war materials than all her allies and her foes put together. An American carpenter can buy more with his pay for a day's work than any other carpenter anywhere—2½ times as much as the carpenter in Germany or France. And the same goes in all trades; the butcher, the baker and the street-car conductor.

Construction of San Francisco's Hetch Hetchy system to provide water and power for the city, was commenced in 1914.

Busier now than ever before

If you've wondered why there is sometimes a delay before you get the operator, here is the reason . . .

Telephone switchboards generally are serving more customers . . . who are placing more calls . . . than ever before. At times, the volume is so great that we are unable to answer each call as promptly as we would like.

We are rushing the equipment we need to take care of all waiting applicants and to furnish a better service than ever to all telephone users. But the job is a big one . . . and it will take time.

We want you to know that our operators are doing everything they can to furnish you the prompt and courteous service you have been accustomed to. Thank you.

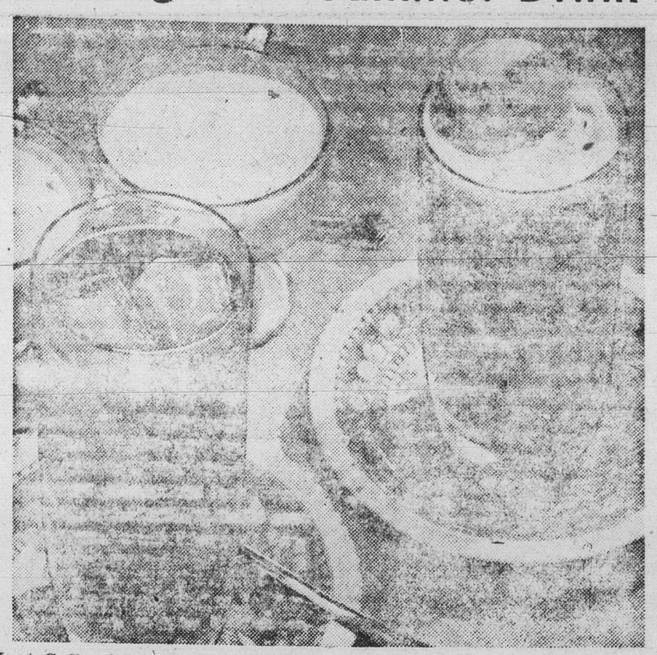
A Long Cool Summer Drink



Iced-Coffee drinks are versatile and easy to prepare. Plain iced coffee, shown at left, is tops if you pour fresh hot coffee over the ice cubes. Brew it double-strength by using twice the usual amount of coffee or half the usual amount of water.

Also excellent is home-made coffee soda. Make a syrup by blending 1½ cups cooled black coffee with ½ cup light corn syrup. Add ½ cup light cream. Mix well and pour into 4 tall glasses. Add coffee ice cream and fill with sparkling water.

Here also is a tested recipe for the coffee ice cream.

3 eggs, separated
1 cup double strength cold coffee
2 cups light cream
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 cup light corn syrup
⅓ cup of sugar
1 tblsp. vanilla

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add coffee and cream. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and coats the spoon. Cool. Sprinkle gelatine on cold water. Combine corn syrup and sugar. Heat to boiling point. Remove from heat. Add gelatine. Stir until dissolved. Beat egg whites stiff. Add gelatine mixture gradually while beating. Add vanilla. Fold into cool custard. Freeze in refrigerator tray or freezer. If frozen in refrigerator tray, beat once during freezing to a thick mush. Beat smooth with egg beater. Return to tray and freeze until served. Serves eight.

GERMAN SPYS DROPPED IN CONTAINERS

McCLELLAN FIELD, Aug. 15—Saboteurs and agents were dropped behind allied lines in a bomb shaped dropping container now being studied by air materiel command, technical intelligence, it was announced today.

Evaluation study of the 490 pound 10 feet long, three man dropping container reveals the missle is designed to carry its passengers strapped horizontally in hammocks. It contains an equipment compartment and has a nose of rubberized tubing to cushion hard landings. When the container is released from the plane it assumes an upright position and the men are standing in descent. A compartment holding parachutes is directly above the heads of the occupants.

The container was irst used in 1940 and according to the Germans, offered such advantages as enabling men of special skills to be dropped without jumping experience, eliminating separation that usually occurs in individual jumps, protecting occupants from landing hazards and reducing chances of enemy detection.

With an estimated weight load of 1500 pounds two containers could be carried underneath the wing of a light, fast bomber. The Germans were experimenting with a combination dropping container and light motor boat for use over water.

There are more than 300 miles of roads in Death Valley National Monument.

Appropriation For Farmers Market Site

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15—Uninterrupted operation of the Farmers Free Market appeared assured this week as the board of supervisors met to vote on an appropriation of $62,000 to purchase a permanent market site.

Opposition to the appropriation dwindled last week in the board's finance committee, leading to predictions that the money would be voted this week. Chief administrative officer, Thomas A. Brooks, chairman of the city's regional service committee announced that negotiations to secure the new site would be started immediately after approval by the board and Mayor Roger D. Lapham.

Recently the supervisors voted to re-submit the question of whether the market shall be made permanent to the San Francisco voters next November. A similar proposal, submitted last November, was passed by a 5 1-2 to 1 majority and proponents of the market were confident of another favorable verdict this year. They pointed out that by making funds available now for the purchase of a permanent site the board would eliminate any possibility of the market's having to be closed when the lease expires on the present site.

Meanwhile, the people of San Francisco demonstrated their attitude toward the Farmers Market on August 10 when a record breaking crowd turned out for the Farmers Fiesta which celebrated the third anniversary of the institution.. John G. Brucato chairman of the Farmers Market advisory board, said the celebration outdistanced even the most optimistic predictions.

United States Savings Bonds are patriotic bonds because your country is still fighting enemy forces which can do to you what the Nazis and Japs were unable to accomplish. This enemy is inflation—run-away prices which can wreck you and your country. Breakfast In Hollywood At Nevada Theatre

Breakfast in Hollywood, which plays Friday and Saturday at the Nevada Theatre, is a gay farce featuring Tom Bheneman, Bonita Granville, Billie Burke, Zuzu Pitts, Hedda Hopper and Spike Jones and his City Slickers.

It involves a group of people who assemble in Hollywood at Tom Breneman's "Breakfast in Hollywood" show. A sailor just discharged from the navy meets his girl from the midwest. Billie Burke plays the unglamorous wife of a man who plays around but learns it doesn't pay in the course of the story.

Tom Breneman, the well known radio master of ceremonies, makes an auspicious debut in the picture and is supported by an able acting and musical cast.

Besides giving thousands of medical consultations over a radio telephone system Australia's Flying Doctor Service for isolated areas covers more than 130,000 miles annually by plane.

Public Good

Freedom of the press has been talked about more in the last few months than in the previous few years. Comment began when the Supreme Court ruled in favor of an editor who had been hailed into court by a notable who felt (perhaps justifiably) injured by something the editor had published. Not everybody thought the case would turn out as it did. Many were surprised.

I would not wish to review the case here, even if there were room for it, but I am glad the Supreme Court surprised a lot of good people and set them studying and talking about this purely American liberty, freedom of the press. Let me say this: You don't publish stories in the old country that hurt the feelings of potentates and get away with it

America Is Different

In this country, it is assumed that a man is not fit for public office unless he can take all the razzing and criticism that goes with it and still hold his temper and do a good job. Think how long a crooked official might stay in office if he could protect himself from criticism all the time, and yet encourage newspapers to magnify the faults of other men who ran for his office.

Editors better not get careless and publish uncomplimentary statements about their neighbors, or about things their neighbors have to sell; courts make them pay for the damage, if any. Editors dare not get mean and print malicious lies about people because courts send writers to jail for that. Publishers can't do whatever they please. That's apart from freedom of the press.

For the Public Good

It is recognized by law in the United States that the people are entitled to know what goes on. Public information is for the public good. In line with this very principle, the Post Office Department will move 60 times more news tonnage for the money than letters which are private, not public. Our government considers spreading news an important public service.

If a publisher makes known things that are true and in the people's interest, it is for the public good and he has the protection of law. When the keen lash of publicity strikes the corrupt deeds of public pay-rollers, let the hit dog yelp. The press is a vocation of "checks and balances." Publishers have power they don't have to use, but if they use it they must use it for the public good.
